SWEET SUCCESS . . . chocolate maker George Magganas.

Nina's Chocolates at Gymea have certainly enjoyed a prosperous 12 months.

After winning the most outstanding small business 2002 award, the shop went on to pick up 12 medals at the 2003 Royal Easter Show, and recently it won the NSW 2003 Small Business Awards champion of champions competition in the manufacturing category.

Nina's owner, George Magganas, is totally delighted with the progress.

"With such recognition, both Nina's wholesale and retail business is growing in leaps and bounds," Mr Magganas said.

He is particularly proud that his Sutherland Shire-based family business is supplying all over Australia as well as servicing the shire.

Mr Magganas recognises and praises the contribution of his dedicated staff.

He also places heavy emphasis on continued product innovation for Nina's success.

"The combination of good food technology practices, the best raw materials and artisan flair ensures a delicious chocolate range that is second to none," Mr Magganas said.

"We have just developed a gourmet range of fudge that is also sure to delight, and we are now preparing for the Christmas season."
